TOPICS OF THE TIME.

MR. GLADSTONE, though almost out of politics, continues to claim a large share of public attention. An illuminated address has been prepared for presentation to him, embossed with the arms of Liverpool and the Gladstone coat of arms, and with a view of Gladstone Hall. The latter was erected in Liverpool as an addition to the Convent Hospital in 1868, from the proceeds of the Gladstone testimonial fund.

HERE is a chain-lightning story from the Portland Advertiser: During the storm the other morning, a bolt struck

some nineteen cans of milk that a Falmouth farmer had placed in front of the mill ready to be sent by train to Portland, scattering the milk and cans

in all directions, and also took a slant across the family cat, who was trying to steal some milk, singing every bit of fur

from her body, but not killing her, and the next day she was lively though hairless.

LAST season the lioness in Bidel's menagerie, in Paris, gave birth to three cubs,

two of which soon died, and the third,

which was healthy and promised to live,

had its back broken by some accident.

M. Bidel presented the poor little animal to one of his employees, who resided in one of the suburbs of Paris. This man had a daughter, who took the creature in charge, fed it and tended it, and it is now a fine large lion, devotedly attached to its benefactor, and following her about the house and garden like a dog.

MR. JAMES LICK has settled upon

Mount Hamilton, in Santa Clara county,

as a desirable place to build the California observatory, which is to contain the largest telescope in the world. The amount set apart for this purpose in his bequest is eight hundred thousand dollars. He has proposed to the Superintends of Santa Clara county to place the observatory on Mount Hamilton, provided they will build a good road to the summit. If they desire it, he offers to advance the county money for the work and take its bonds in payment.

THE Syndicate of the Bank of California has organized by electing William Sharon, President; the Bank of California, Treasurer; R. H. Lloyd, Secretary;

and James R. Keene, Charles Mayne, R.

F. Moore, D. O. Mills, and R. H.

Lloyd the Executive Committee. An assessment of twenty per cent. has been levied on the subscription to the Guarantee Fund, amounting in round numbers to $1,500,000. This, with the coin now on hand, gave between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 to open with. Entire harmony prevailed at the meeting.

WILLIAM M. TWEED, in Ludlow street

jail, sends nobody but his family, his physician and his lawyers. Mrs. Tweed visits him daily, and his counsel about as often. It is customary at the jail when,

for convenience, a prisoner wishes to be out in the pure air for a few hours in the company of an officer, to grant him that privilege for a fee not fixed, but assessed according to the amount of bail, in default of which he is held—a kind of discounting of the risk involved. Mr.

Tweed's bail is fixed at three million dollars, and a half a day's liberty would be scheduled at about one hundred dollars. He pays fifty dollars a week for his accommodations indoors.

A STATEMENT showing the estimated annual production of gold and silver in the United States during the twenty-five years from 1849 to 1873 has been prepared by the bureau of statistics. The annual average production of gold, according to this statement, has been $90,-

800,000, and that of silver, for the five years from 1859 to 1873, $13,300,000.

The highest annual production of gold was during the five years from 1852

to 1856, both inclusive, when it was $70,-

200,000. The highest annual production of silver given was in 1873, when it was $25,750,000. The production of gold has been, with the exception of one year, been annually decreasing since 1856, and the production of silver has, with the exception of one year, been increasing since

1859, the production of gold and silver in 1873 being almost the same.

A TERRIBLE story of murder comes from Quercia, in Italy. A boy was playing near the house of a man named

Grandi, and was enticed by him to go inside, by a story that other children were coming to play there. Grandi suggested that he should hide beneath the stairs, and surprise them when they came.

He accordingly entered a dark place and lay down; Grandi then seized him by the throat, and tried to choke his cries with earth. The little fellow is strong, and his assailant is weak and deformed. They struggled, and Grandi tried to silence him with blows of some weapon on the head. He continued to cry, however, and a woman gave the alarm. To those who arrested the monster he only said that the boy had thrown stones at him. It appears that Grandi's deformity was mocked by the village children. Many bones have been found buried about the house, and some say an entire body. These are being examined by surgeons. A grave, fresh dug, lay open under the staircase, which, there can be little doubt, was meant for the rescued boy.

Cut Out of the Rag.

The Cincinnati Commercial has the following:

"If we had inflation and Democratic victory throughout the country, there would no doubt be a multitude of war veterans from all parts of the sunny South, and if we did not have to pay for emancipated slaves and to redeem the Confederate bonds in greenbacks, we would at least be instructed by the presentation of bills for the passage of the National armies through all the toll-gates on the Southern roads."

That is Radicalism in all its nastiness and impurity. It thoroughly shows their hand, and tells the people why they are opposed to "inflation." Truly, they are afraid that some sort of justice might be done the people of the "sunny South," if the Government would make enough money to pay the debts which the United States fairly owe to many of those States where the Union armies plowed up and over their roads, destroyed their bridges, and otherwise ruined private and State property for public good, without any compensation whatever. According to the Commercial's own admission as clearly set forth in the above paragraph, the Radical party is opposed to paying to the stockholders in the Southern turnpike roads a fair compensation for the use of them by the hundreds of wagons and horsemen which passed over them continually, and which use utterly destroyed many of the roads. These thoroughfares were private property as much as the roof over the head of the Commercial's editor. What would have been the condition of Buell's army in Kentucky but for these Macadamized roads? They could never have "driven Bragg out of the State," and a ceaseless guerrilla warfare would have been the result. And so of every other State in the "sunny South." How was it when General T. J. Wood was here at Stanford in the Winter of 1863, aiming to make a way for army supply trains, &c., to Point Isabel on the Cumberland river? Several thousands of his soldiers were forced to take the shovel and the pick, the axe and the drill, in the midst of a terrible Winter, and try to make a road then so that these trains could pass. We all remember the "corduroy railroad." The enterprise was a failure, yet thousands of dollars were spent. Our houses and public buildings filled with sick and dying soldiers, caused by that kind of work at that time of the year. Only five miles of the road was pike, which belonged to private individuals. This part was destroyed by the army, and only half toll ever paid, which cost half of that to squeeze it out of the Federal authorities. There was scarcely a mile of pike in Kentucky, Tennessee, or other States of the "sunny South," which did not suffer an almost complete destruction. Yet the Commercial urges its party and the people of Ohio generally, to vote against inflation for fear that the government will obtain money enough to pay her honest liabilities. The other insinuations of the Commercial are too absurd to merit a response from any respectable paper in the country, but the animus of the Radical party touching the financial plank in the Ohio Democratic platform, is made exceedingly plain. We do not, however, believe, nor does the Commercial, that a single other claim of any kind will be made than would be, let the finance question result as it may, and all such stuff as the above quotation is sheer demagoguery, yet it serves admirably to warn honest men of the "ways that are dark and the tricks which are vain," of the radical party and its leaders.

Charge to a Grand Jury.

We have noted and observed the great earnestness with which the populace listened to a charge given by the Circuit Court Judge to his Grand Jury. It is eminently proper that they should do so. When well delivered, it makes an impression for good. The penal and criminal laws are too little understood by the general public and their infraction is often caused by a want of that understanding. The solemnity with which these "charges" are often given by Judges who have been known to violate some of the plainest provisions of the law, themselves, so m ludicrous enough at times but that should not deter the individual who desires to respect all the laws of his country; from the full discharge of his duty as a citizen who owes allegiance to his State and country. True it is, that "ignorance of the law excuses no man," but it is also true, in strict justice, and practice—that it should mitigate the punishment for its violation. Men are frequently punished for the disobedience of a law which they did not know had an existence. To obviate this state of things as far as possible, it is well that our Circuit Judges should deliver full and lucid charges to their Grand Jurors, as far as duty lies, in giving information as to what penalty attaches to a violation of our penal and criminal laws. It is not presumed that all men can have the opportunity to read the law themselves, and the information given by the Judge on the assembling of his court has a wide spread influence of the right kind. No intelligent human being who will attend our courts and listen to the charge to the Grand Jury, need long remain ignorant of his moral duty as a citizen, provided the Judge does his manifest duty. It cannot be said of our law-making Assemblies as it was of that Roman law-giver, who wrote his laws and hung them so high in his temple of justice (?) that his subjects could not read them, and then inflicted severe penalties for their violation.

Family Papers.

Every family whose members can read should subscribe for one or more papers. The first one should be the "county paper," of course, as it gives all the home and much foreign news, and aids more than any other one thing to build up the business interests of the section of country in which it is published. Hence, in order to render it self-sustaining, the people must patronize it every way possible. Next to your home paper, each family should supply itself with a good illustrated weekly. There are several of this kind published in our country, and many which claim to be good, but are not worth a penny.

If you have the means to spare, our advice is to take a good monthly magazine also, which has pure literature in it. With these adjuncts to education no family need be without all the literature needed. The school-room is the place, of course, to lay the solid foundation of learning upon which the superstructure is to be erected, but in a pure newspaper or literary weekly paper, we find valuable information, which not only informs us of things in the "living present," but points out to us those things which will live in the future and which have lived in the dead past.

The season of the year has arrived when you should begin to consider what papers you will bring into your family for the coming twelve months. Choose them wisely. Discountenance the "flashy" weeklies and those magazines which pander to a depraved appetite for the "sensational," some of which we know to be as poisonous to their teachings, especially to the young, as a serpent's tooth. Pure, wholesome reading improves the mind and stimulates the reader to deeds of charity and of good generally.

From the time of the origin of the Democratic party, a number of organizations have attempted to dispute its claims to control the policies of the country, but one by one they have gone down before this great representative of the popular will. The recovery of the control of the country by the Democracy, is one of the proudest evidences of the correctness of their principles. The Federalists never recovered from their defeat; the Know-Nothings fell before it—and fell forever. The grand old Whig party—which was its greatest rival, it shivered at atoms; and now the so-called Republican party is tottering to its fall and will soon be deprived of the few remaining vestiges of power, which nothing but a tide of fanaticism had given it, and it will pass out of existence without having produced one single great Statesman, or a single great principle deserving of a place in history.

There seems to be a determination on the part of the people of Virginia to complete the Big Sandy railroad from this State to their own, via the Chesapeake & Ohio railway. It is only a question of time, and the people of Louisville have, through their leading men, expressed a desire to aid in the much needed work. A direct road to the "mother of States and statesmen" is greatly needed, and the day is not far distant when we will see it fully completed. Connect the two oceans by the line proposed and Kentucky and Virginia will gain "millions by it."

GRANGERS' CONVENTION.—On the 17th day of next month, (November,) the National Convention of United States Grangers will convene at Louisville. This promises to be the most important meeting the Grange has ever held, and thousands of delegates will be in attendance. The Order is prosperous and growing in all the States, and their meeting together, from all parts of the country, North, South, East, and West, will have a decided tendency toward bridging "that gulf."

LARGE ORCHARD.—A Nursery firm of Indiana has made preparation to plant an Orchard of twenty acres at King's Mountain Tunnel, in this county, this Fall, mostly apples, but there will also be several hundred peach trees planted. That part of the county is finely adapted to fruit culture, and it is the native home of the wild grape; and this fruit rarely fails at any time. The Concord and Ives Seedling are said to be the best for vineyard culture now.

VANDERBILT University was formally dedicated the other day with great pomp and ceremony, and twenty-six of the incoming Faculty were "duly and truly installed" into their respective chairs as Professors. We congratulate the people of Nashville, Tennessee, and the South generally, upon the auspicious opening of this great Southern University.

SOME of our exchanges speak of "Edgar Allen Poe, the poet,"—as if there was any other Edgar Allen Poe. His name and fame have rendered him immortal.

The strongest argument yet made in favor of a "sound currency," is the fact that the hard-money banks of California, and the Nevada bank, have resumed business so soon after their suspension. But then all of this nice little argument is killed off when one reflects that they never used any other kind of currency. People out there on the "gold coast" would have laughed and derided a man who would have offered "rag money" in exchange for anything.

GLORY FOR A JOURNALIST.—Miller, of the Jeffersonian Democrat, has written the finest, grandest, sweetest, most magnificent and glorious Poem in the English or any other language, and the music is as fine and grand and glorious as the words. It is a National song, and it is destined to be sung wherever human voices rise to shout with patriotic fervor, the liberties of their country.

THE Cincinnati Commercial says that if the currency is to be inflated, people ought to pay their debts now, because creditors will begin to sue at once. That is the first time we ever heard a debtor threatened with a law suit for debt on account of more money being made with which he could discharge his indebtedness. That's too thin, Mr. Halstead!

At a meeting of the Louisville and Nashville railroad companies stockholders, on Wednesday last at Louisville, the following Board of officers was chosen: E. D. Standiford, President, H. Victor Newcom, Vice President and H. F. Guthrie, P. J. Patter and H. C. Marrel, Directors.

GOLD has gone up in the markets. It reached its highest figure, for some months, on Tuesday last, having gone to 117½. What in the world is the matter? Talk about resuming specie payment! If that were done, then what?

THE Cuban insurrection seems to be no nearer a close now than when it first began. Don Carlos, in Spain, with his insurgent soldiery, is giving Alfonso, the new and youthful King of Spain, all they can do in battle.

The niggers in several towns down South are asserting their authority, as given them by the carpet-baggers and scalawags generally. They have threatened to burn several towns, and they will do so if possible.

THE Cincinnati papers are having a high old time during the present gubernatorial campaign. The Enquirer and Commercial are clawing each other like two ram cats swung across a clothes line.

THE inaugural exercises of the medical department of Central University were held at Louisville on Tuesday last. Prof. Dudley S. Reynolds delivered the inaugural address.

THE blacks of Mississippi at Friar's Point, have threatened to burn that place, and a "war of races" seems imminent. The whites have armed to meet them.

NEXT Tuesday, the great battle will close in Ohio. "Rise my Allen!" "Up guards, and at them!"

Go to the Parlor Millinery Department in John H. Craig's Trade Palace Cash Store for stylish hats, elegant Bonnets, and the latest Novelties.

SEVERANCE & MILLER offer inducements in all staple lines of goods, and their margins unusually low on every class of goods which they have in stock.

SEVERANCE & MILLER have just received a very choice Stock of Dry Goods, Notions, Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, etc., to which they ask the attention of purchasers.

It is now generally recognized in close-brothering, cash-paying circles, that Campbell & Miller's is headquarters in the Grocery and Hardware line. Go there Monday next and try them.

REMEMBER that on Friday and Saturday, 15th and 16th October, the Grand Opening of Millinery Goods in the Parlor Millinery Establishment of John H. Craig takes place. You are invited.

PARTICULAR ATTENTION given to Wedding Outfits in the Custom Department of the great Clothing House of J. Winter & Co., Louisville. A splendid variety to select from, and sold at reasonable prices.

When the Ladies want to find their friends they go to the Trade Palace Cash Store of John H. Craig, for they are certain to find there in the great crowd that throngs there to see the large stock of hand-made goods.

The old patrons of Severance & Miller will please not suffer themselves led away from them by extravagant promises and a few baubles, before giving their large Fall and Winter Stock an examination. No one can do better for you than they.

Your custom do better when buying your new suit than by going to J. Winter & Co., Louisville. They have the best stock in the city—and sold cheaper—all their own manufacture—and made and trimmed in the best style. Remember the place—Cor. 3d and Market streets.

SOMETHING NEW.—The undersigned have been appointed sole Agents for the sale of the celebrated Barnett's Zinc and Potash Paste. They are warranted non-corrosive, and as durable as any other. Price $2.50 per gross. Samples gratis. For sale at Bolton & Stagg's.

AGONY FLOWERS.—The most miserable beings in the world are those suffering from Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint. More than seventy-five per cent of the people in the United States are afflicted with these diseases and their effects, such as Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Constipation, Palpitation of the Heart, Heartburn, Water-brash, gnawing and burning pains at the pit of the Stomach, Yellow Skin, Constipation, and disagreeable taste in the mouth, coming up of food after eating, loss of spirits, &c. Go to the Drug Store of Bolton & Stagg, and get a 75 cent bottle or a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Try it. Two doses will relieve you.

HOME JOTTINGS.

The October term of the Garrard Equity Court will begin on next Monday.

MR. HAYDEN and his bride left on the cars last Tuesday for the Exposition at Louisville.

SEVERAL important and interesting Jury trials will be had in our coming October Circuit Court.

A PARTY of gentlemen left here the other day on a fishing excursion to the Cumberland River.

The grapes are purpling on the hills and the brown chestnuts are falling since the frost appeared.

BRING along your chestnuts, boys, for our town folks are hankering after, if not longing for them.

The handsome new "railing" fence in front of the Christian church in Stanford, is an ornament to Depot street.

MISS MOLLIE NEWNAM, a very agreeable and entertaining young lady of Somerset, is visiting Miss Bettie Blain, of Stanford.

THERE will be preaching in the Presbyterian church here on next Sunday, a week hence, by Rev. T. A. Bracken, of Lebanon.

NEXT Monday the Court of Claims and the County Court will be held here. The former Court will continue, perhaps, two or more days.

THE "blessed rain" of Wednesday last did a grand deal of good by filling water courses, springs, ponds, cisterns, &c., which were almost dry.

WE notice that but few of the decisions given by Judge Owsley in this judicial district have been reversed. This speaks well for our new Judge.

GEORGE W. RUSSELL, the young man who severely cut a Mr. Rout, near Walnut Flat, in this county recently, was tried and acquitted. Mr. Rout is nearly well.

MRS. L. BEAZLEY's card can be found in the present issue of our paper. She has associated with herself Mrs. Dunn, and they will keep on hand the best Millinery goods.

Two prisoners broke jail at Liberty, the other evening, but after a mile chase by about fifty men, women and children, they were captured and returned to headquarters.

REV. W. F. JUNKIN, Principal of the Danville Classical and Military Academy, preached an excellent sermon in the Southern Presbyterian church here on Sunday last.

MARRIED.—On the 4th inst., by Rev. S. McRoberts, at the residence of her brother, near Stanford, Miss Fanny Wallace, to Leo Hayden, Esq. We wish for them a happy voyage along life's changeable stream.

THE Sentence of death which was pronounced upon Nichols at Danville last week by Judge Owsley, was one of the most touching and pathetic we ever heard from the lips of any Judge whom such a sad duty devolved.

A NUMBER of our citizens, male and female, went to the Exposition at Louisville this week. Several stock-holders in the L. & N. R. R. also went down to attend the annual meeting to choose a new directory for the ensuing year.

MR. BARROW, after a long stage of work in delivering pure, one fire to his many customers in town, has closed out for the season. We hope he may be able to fill all of his houses the coming winter, as a dealer with the enterprise he has, deserves success.

REV. G. C. OVERSTREET and Mrs. S. C. Trechard, Principal of Stanford Female Academy, attended the late session of the Methodist Conference for this State, at Maysville, last week. Mr. Overstreet will remain on this Circuit one more year.

THAT burglar who raided on our town last week, seems to be visiting various other villages. He was at Lebanon, and made an unsuccessful attempt at burglary, and then went across to Somerset and burglarized a drug store and was caught. Not, however, until he entered several other houses.

WE are gratified to learn that our old friend, Mr. R. Carson, opened his hotel at Lexington under very flattering auspices. For the first two days the arrivals numbered 131, and the cry is "all they come." A first-class hotel is sadly needed in Lexington, and we are sure Mr. Carson will supply the deficiency.

MR. M. J. NORRIS, representing the well-known clothing house of R. D. Norris, Cincinnati, will be in our town on the 19th of the present month, and will exhibit a fine line samples on sale, and will also take the measure of any one and furnish any kind of a suit of clothes wanted, at the very lowest price.

A STALWART young man of Rockbridge county, Va., once asked an old man for his daughter. What have you got to support a wife on, asked the old man. The poor young man replied: "I have always made a decent living for myself and had a little left, and I wouldn't give a cent for a gal that couldn't help me." He got her.

MANY persons fail to keep fires in their sitting and sleeping rooms during the cool mornings and evenings of the early Fall months. This failure is the cause of many diseases. The fact is, physicians have told us that some fire should be kept all the day long, and that the feet should never be allowed to become cold. Keep up your fires!

THE time for planting trees is almost here. Fruit and shade trees do as well when planted in the Fall as any other season. We are always glad to see people planting trees, especially those which bear fruit, and we hope that many of them will do so this season. No man who owns a little land, or much, need be without fruit.

If you don't believe that some of our Stanford merchants have the finest stock of Fall and Winter goods you ever saw, just look over our advertising columns and from them learn who they are, and when you come to town call at their stores and see for yourself. Their stocks are immense and their prices, we know by experience, are less than ever before.

MR. R. BLAIN had a silver watch taken from his pocket at Somerset the other night while he was asleep. He informs us that an Irishman was going to work on Walton's work, C. S. R. R., had such a watch as his, which he offered to sell for a mere trifle, and it is possible that it is his. He will be thankful for any information which may lead to its recovery.

WE had a call this week from Mr. M. T. Russell, of Millidgeville, the greatest keeper in this county. He says that owing to the long spell of wet weather, the honey-bees are badly supplied with honey stores to carry them through the winter, and advises owners of bees to feed them heavily during the late Fall months, as they will die if not fed.

MILLINERY GOODS.—From her advertisement in this issue of our paper, it will be seen that Mrs. M. E. Davies, one of the most accomplished Milliners in the State, has, with her characteristic good taste, selected a splendid assortment of goods in her line, and will offer them to the public at prices to suit the times. Mrs. Davies' customers know that she offers for sale only the best goods, and that she will sell them at a very reasonable price.

JOHN MONTGOMERY, a sensible colored man of this county came into our office the other day and subscribed and paid for the Journal, and said he could not get along without it, because from it he learns all about our home markets, &c., and it has lots of good reading matter besides. John says that when the paper comes, there is a general scramble among the folks to get possession of it first. He will never live in ignorance who has intelligent notions like our colored patron.

PICK-POCKET.—A young man who attended church at Rush Branch, in this county last Saturday night, came very near losing his watch. His pocket was cut, and the button hole in his vest where the chain was fastened, and the watch dropped out at the door of the church, and was found the next day and returned to the owner. The pick pocket failed to secure his booty, by a mere accident. Don't let the crowd tried to effect his purpose while theascal was getting out of the door. That church door was as near to Heaven as such scamps will ever get.

MARRIED.—Our young friend George D. Hopper was married on Thursday morning last, at the residence of the bride's father, Wm. M. Higgins, by Rev. R. H. Caldwell, to Miss Kitty B. Higgins. Attendants—Mr. Joseph Grimes and Miss Maggie Higgins, Mr. Wm. Higgins and Miss Maggie McRoberts. The bridal party passed through town on the train on a short pleasure trip. The delicious cake, etc., sent to our office was evidence that the "printer" was not forgotten in the excitement incident to such occasions. Long may the young couple journey happily together the pathway of life.

A NEW County Committee of the Democratic party in this county has been appointed by the State Central Committee, as the old Committee resigned. The following gentlemen were selected, to-wit: J. M. Cook, Chmn., Dan'l Stagg, John Bailey, W. O. Hansford, Lewis G. Gooch, Jas. E. Lynn, Henry Baughman, W. B. Withers and D. A. Baugh. We presume, and it is hoped, that all of these gentlemen will accept this important position, as they were chosen on account of their known ability and sound Democracy, and that they would give better satisfaction than any others who could have been selected.

In the United States Court at Louisville the case of Wm. Sellers against various parties in this section, will be called for trial in a few days. We see from the published docket that the plaintiff, Sellers, has caused to be dismissed his action against Ben Mitchell, of this town, Jas. B. Mason, and D. B. Myers, of Garrard county. The other parties will, we presume, be prosecuted to a final judgment, and whether plaintiffs or defendants, will be successful, it remains for time to show. The docket of the U. S. District Court is very large, and many "moonshine" distillers will have to give an account for the "deeds-done in the body."

A GENTLEMAN came into our office last Tuesday evening and said that he did not understand why it was that horsemen were riding up and down our various roads, which enter town, so late at night. He said that the other night about 1 o'clock, two men rode by him, and brought him to a halt and asked why he was out at such an hour. Our informant replied that he had been to town for a physician to see a sick child.

One of the men then drew a pistol and fired it into the air, and both men went off yelling like two fiends. These men may have been two half-drunken scamps, but they may have been worse than that. It is a pity that they could not be found out and punished for their improper conduct.

DOCTOR JAS. G. CARPENTER, formerly of this place, but now living at Crab Orchard, was called by Mr. W. R. Drillon, to attend the wounded robber at Livingston. The Doctor wrote a long letter to the Courier-Journal, last Tuesday, giving a full history of the man's wound, his form, size, etc., and says that a gentleman who asked to see the photograph of the dead man, said he was certainly one of the Younger brothers. Perhaps this vexed question of identity will never be known, as the man persisted in his refusal to tell his name, lineage, or anything connected with history. The man told Dr. Carpenter that he believed that God had forgiven his sins. It is to be hoped so, for if he was one of the James and Younger tribe, those were many and terrible.

We presume that August Bridgewater, now confined in the Louisville jail for safe keeping, will be brought here for trial at our Circuit Court, which begins on the 3d Monday in this month. Our information is to the effect that the prisoner will ask for a change of venue, and, if this be true, he will not be tried for some months yet, provided the change be granted. Bridgewater has an idea that he could not get justice done to him here, but in that he may be much mistaken. There is no one, as we learn, who would do him the least injustice. Bridgewater's condition, physically, is said to be much improved, and he will, possibly, be able to attend our court, and either have a trial of the several charges against him, or move to have them transferred to another county for final trial.

Another Elopement.—According to previous arrangements, cunningly devised, and entered into for the purpose of defeating the vigilance of the "old folks" and marrying in defiance of his wishes, she was to leave home on a visit to a friend, from the house of whom he was to steal her away and hasten to the priest who was to tie the nuptial knot. Both the young lady and young gentleman were suspected and watched by their parents, a fact which might prevent the youngest's arrival at a particular evening, or particular hour. So it was understood between the lovers that a serenade was to be the signal of his presence in waiting for the destined bride. Three songs were to be sung in order to give the girl time to make up her toilet and steal out of the house where she was sojourning. An oak-tree on the banks of a stream near by was to be the place of their meeting. The first and second night Romeo could not elude the vigilance of his parents. Impatient for happiness, his Juliet expected him the third night without fail, and was ready at an early hour in the evening. He was as impatient as she, and the crescent moon had not sailed the sky more than three hours, when the soft notes of a guitar trembled on the moonlight air, and the impassioned voice of the lover invaded the ears of the waiting maiden and summoned her to his arms. Just as the young man ended the last song he was furiously assailed by a ferocious dog, who injured him so severely that he had to be carried bleeding and unconscious into the house, where he now lies in a critical condition. Love may laugh at locksmiths, but when an unprejudiced dog comes into the case there is an end of romance, and thus ended "another elopement."

CRAB ORCHARD.—Dr. S. B. PHILLIPS, late of Kirkville, has taken rooms at the Saunders House, and we are informed that he will remain through the Winter and practice his profession.

Past Grand J. R. Pherigo has been elected to represent Crab Orchard Lodge No. 108, I. O. O. F., in the Grand Lodge of Kentucky that meets in Louisville, the 29th.

J. B. HUFFMAN & Co. have returned from their gold-hunting expedition. They will not talk, but their looks indicate that they found the metal.

OUR friend A. A. McKinney, of your town, paid Crab Orchard a brief visit last Sunday evening. We would judge from the handsome gift he was going that he was driving one of those fiery steeds of Portman & Owens's, for there was much "get-up-and-toddle-ness" about his turnout, sure.

THE colored Baptist church is nearing completion, and when finished will be the most handsome church in town. It will have a cupola; a bell, and plenty of ringing.

BRASS.—I believe since your induction into the very exalted and responsible position of editing the Journal the East End has not been so well represented. Not on account of any great amount of interesting matter do we write, nor to thrust ourselves, uncalled, upon the attention of "the people," but to verify our promise to your Editor, and wishing also that the metropolis of the East—(end)—should be represented, we do a few incidents that now occur to us.

BUSINESS, both mercantile and agricultural circles, is more on the ascent than for some time before. Merchants look buoyant; the sun-brown yeomanry beam with satisfaction and complacency, whilst the indefatigable energies of their manhood strive unceasingly to secure their liberal supplies.

THE education of the rising generation is not neglected. Tarrant College, under the supervision of the accomplished and agreeable Mrs. Tarrant, is meeting with the full measure of success anticipated by its most sanguine and enthusiastic friends. We are informed by Mrs. Tarrant that the celebrated elocutionist, Prof. Kidd, will visit the college upon the termination of his engagements in Danville.

WE had the honor of meeting with the distinguished Gen. Beauregard during his stay at the Springs. He expressed himself pleased with the place, water, &c., and signified his intention of resorting there next Summer. Gen. Beauregard, in company with gentlemen from Crab Orchard, visited the Burning Well, several miles south-east of here, and returned quite pleased with their trip. All those delighting in the beauties and peculiarities of nature, have a very great source of entertainment in reserve if they have not seen the Burning Well.

BANK ROBBERIES, thieves and burglars seem to have perfectly ignored our section, and we can but admire their profound discretion, for it is well-known that all who visit the "East End" with intentions of that kind, return uncomfortably laden with lead and powder.

REV. MR. BOOLE, of Hustonville, preached good sermons to good audiences on Sunday morning and evening last. More anon, R.

LAND, STOCK, AND CROP ITEMS.—J. B. WILSON, of Lexington, paid $15,000 for the black stallion, Allie West, the other day.

BLESSED is the farmer whose garners are filled with German Millet. Sow some next year.

AMERICAN GIRL, one of the greatest trotting animals in this country, dropped dead at Elmira, N. Y., the other day.

IF our farmers in Central Kentucky do not come back from the St. Louis Fair with blue ribbons and silver, we will be very much mistaken.

THE rain last week put the ground in fine condition for ploughing. This will enable the farmers to get their wheat and other small grain in.

CUTTING corn is the order of the day. But few acres of it will be left standing by to-morrow night. The crop is enormous and of the best quality.

TWO thousand horses are sick with the epidemic in Cincinnati. The disease will visit Louisville doubtless, in a few weeks. No horses have died yet, and the complaint is in a mild form.

WE presume that by the last of next week all of our farmers will have won their wheat. We learn that the area which will be sown this season will be greater than that of last year.

THE mule market is about as dull as it ever gets in these parts. Cattle and sheep are better than they were some years past. The trade in these kinds of stock seems to be "all the rage."

HARRISBURG COURT.—About 300 cattle upon the market. Cattle weighing 1000 to 1150 brought 4 to 4 1/2 cents. Good yearlings $25 to $30 per head. Good medium mules $70 to $80 per head.

MR. LEWIS P. JONES's saddle mare, a world beater, after having "graduated" at all other points, took two premiums at the Kirkville Fair, last week, in a ring of 16. The premiums were each $10—gold.

SECRET FOR COLE IN HORSES OR MULES.—One half pint Tar, one half pint Lard. Melt and mix, and drench the animal. This has been tried often by a stock man, who vouches for its efficacy.

CR seems to be quite unsettled in price, as some farmers sell at $1.50 in the field, while others sell for $1. We presume that the price will settle to about $1.25, yet it may go to the highest figure to-wit, the first price named.

As usual, Kentucky horsemen and Kentucky bred horses, are taking the laurels at the races at Nashville this week. We note that Dan Swigert's King Alfonso, won a race on Monday last and a horse of George Cadwalader, of Lexington, another.

DON'T forget the sale of the personality of Mr. John G. Smith, on Dix River, on Thursday, 16th of this month. All kinds of stock, crops, &c., will be offered, and the fun, which is a good one, will be rented on that day, if not disposed of privately before the day of sale.

At the sales of Mr. Herr R. Penman and another gentleman, near Lexington, this week, of a large number of trotting animals, the prices obtained were very moderate, as they sold as low as $40 per head, and only as high as $650. The average price of the entire lot, some 150, was about $140. Trotting stock seems to be going down.

THE St. Louis Fair will be largely represented on our Kentucky stock men. We learn from a friend who has sent some cattle there for exhibition, a better and finer lot of cattle, horses, mules, &c., has never been sent there for exhibition. Kentuckians have contributed greatly to the various Fairs in the West and South for many years past. Our folks are said to be able to show "world-beaters."

AUCTIONEER J. M. Higgins, who cried the sale of John H. Smith, in this county, last Saturday, reports a good crowd in attendance, and prices obtained for property good. Cows sold from $16.50 to $25; Yoke oxen $7.50; 2 heifers $15 each; 10 shotes $8.25 per head; sow and pigs $30.00; corn in field $1.50 per barrel; wheat at bin, 80c per bushel; 1 horse $75; 15 sheep $3.10 per head; 1 pair mules $155.

IT is thought the epidemic horse disease, the epizootic, is again on its way to the West and South. It is to be hoped therefore, that it will be in a milder form, and that the veterinary surgeons understand the complaint better than they did heretofore. So far but few horses have died of the disease, and the only trouble is that the animals are rendered unfit for service for some weeks after they are attacked.
